Text (A)

Poetry and writing are two important parts of Jordan's culture. Arar is one of Jordan's most admired poets. He was born in Irbid in 1899. His life was exceptional because of the way he expressed his patriotism. Arar's poetry was also distinctive – he used the language of the people to discuss their concerns, but also included classical Arabic sayings. Among his achievements are famous poems like 'Sorrow of Youth' and 'Wish of the Wisher', which are still loved by many people. Arar also practised law and supported the poor. He died in 1949 but continues to be remembered today. Irbid has an annual poetry festival with a prize named after him; many Jordanian and Arab poets compete to win the “Arar Literary Award”.

1- What are the two important parts of Jordan's culture?

2- Where and when was Arar born?

3- The writer mentioned that Arar was distinctive. Explain why.

4- Mention two of Arar's poems.

5- Quote the sentence which shows Arar's concern about the poor.

Text (B)

A seven-year-old boy, Charles Robbins, stopped some robbers at home. While the robbers were threatening his parents, he locked himself in the bathroom with his little sister and called the police. You can hear the conversation in a copy of the police tape. The boy talked about his frightening experience to news reporters this afternoon. While he and his little sister were playing in the garden, the boy realised something unusual was going on “I saw a strange man.

He was standing in the street. Then I looked into the kitchen, and I saw two other men. They were pointing their guns at my mum and dad. My mum and dad were putting their hands up and their heads down.” “I grabbed mum’s phone, took my sister and ran to the bathroom.

I locked the door and I phoned the police.” While he was talking to the police, one of the robbers broke down the door and grabbed the phone. When the boy told them he was speaking to the police, the robbers escaped. They didn’t injure anyone, and they didn’t take any property. During the news conference, the boy was wearing a police helmet that the police gave him for being brave.

1- How old was Charles Robbins when he fell in that problem?

2- What did Charles Robbins do when he first saw the robbers?

3- Where were his parents when the robbers were pointing their guns at them?

4- What happened to Charles and his sister while he was talking to the Police?

5- What do the underlined pronouns refer to?
